

Movement Launched To Buy New Horns For Citizens' Band

J. O. LITTLE AND COM-MITTEE ORGANIZE TO HELP

CANVASS FOR $750

Fresh from their triumph at the Waterloo musical festival, Newmarket Citizens' bandmen have decided to enter the arena at the Canadian National Exhibition this year.

They will have four important new instruments when they play at the C. N. E., if plans go a-ri-ght. The secret of the band's suc-cess at Waterloo was the new in-struments they had rented," said J. O. Little, chief friend to the band, at a committee meet- ing on Monday evening.

"It is not fair to ask musicians to carry on with inferior instru-ments," he said.

The instruments to be pur- chased include one double B flat bass horn and two E flat alto horns and cases. These instru- ments will cost $750, and a citi- zens' committee will make a house-to-house canvass, Mr. Little said, to raise the money.

Members of this committee are Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd, J. O. Little, A. N. Belugin, H. E. Lambert and Councillor D. O. Mungovan.

"We all feel proud of our band, and if all citizens give a little we will have no difficulty in raising the necessary money," said Mr. Little.

Executives of the two town bands, the citizens' committee of the Citizens' Band and the R.S.A. Bugle Band Association are meeting in the Bugle Band hall this evening to plan a tattoo or other band event when the medals won at Waterloo will be presented to the two bands.

YOUNGSTERS IN CITY LONG FOR COUNTRY VISIT

SOCIAL SERVICE WORKERS
ASK HELP OF COUNTRY
DWELLERS

(The Era will vouch for the good work done by the Neighborhood Workers Association and the urgent need mentioned.)

School is out! To some chil- dren that may mean a happy vacation time is just starting. Unfortunately, to many hundreds of city children it means hot days spent on narrow, dirty city streets.

At the country homes office of the Neighborhood Workers Asso- ciation, Toronto, there are al- ready more than 600 names on the list of those hoping for a trip to the country this summer. Each day more pleas come in from district workers. "Johnny was sick during the winter—he must have a holiday." "Mary, age 12, has been keeping house during her mother's illness. She is thin and tired and needs rest and sunshine."

"These and other statements by visiting social workers vouch for the fact that every name on the waiting list is deserving of consideration," said the director of the country placement depart- ment.

Many invitations have been received by the N. W. A. but for the most part they are hostesses of previous years who are anx- ious again to do their bit toward making some city child happy. "We know there are scores more kindly country women who would willingly take a child or two into their home for two weeks if they only knew of the great need," said the director.

There's nothing complicated about the business of sending an invitation. Just a brief letter addressed to the N. W. A., 22 Wellesley St., Toronto, location of the farm or summer home, directions as to how the nearest point is reached, and a statement of preference as to age and sex of children preferred, is all that is required, plus a letter from the local clergyman or a well-known member of the commu- nity. The N. W. A. does all the rest; has the child medically examined and provided with transportation.

The need is very urgent and those who can help may relieve parents and social workers of much worry by responding immediately to the pathetic ques- tion of so many children, "Could we please go to the country this summer?"

PERENNIALS GO ON DISPLAY SATURDAY

Perennials of all kinds will be on display at the Newmarket Horticultural Society show in the Christian church basement on Sat- urday.

The show will specialize in roses, lilies, delphinium and sweet peas. A special prize of one dollar for the best basket of ten spikes of delphinium is given by President James Gibney. About $25 in prize money in 40 different classes is being offered. No prizes are given unless the entries are of sufficient excellence.

FENNELL'S LACK BALL EXPERIENCE

By JACK PEPIATT

The Redmen only dusted their pants in stifling the scarcely aud- ible outbursts of the Fennell's Cor- ners softball squad by a 12-1 count at the ball park Monday evening. They worked up just enough sweat to keep warm and tune up for their fixture with Sutton tonight.

Fennell's were a husky crew but greenhorns in this racket. The first walk-around netted the Redmen four runs without a witness for the defence.

This inning really showed how badly Fennell's were ticking and from then on it was all Newmar- ket. Trivett, Cunningham and Gibney batted out circuit clouts in this wild slug-fest. Two runs in the third, five in the fourth and one in the fifth were put on record for the locals.

McComb took a turn on the mound in the eighth and allowed only one bingle. Cain handled the first "stop-off" in a neat manner. However, the outfield is his best stamping ground.

This game has kept the boys fit for the all-important struggle this p.m. Drop around and see a game worth seeing.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE INSPECT GIRLS' WORK

The regular monthly meeting of the Newmarket Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Adams, Park Ave., on Thursday afternoon, July 20. The roll call is "Simple Desserts for Summer Weather." There will be a project display by the girls' club.

Hostesses will be Mesdames W. M. Cockburn, E. N. Penrose, J. E. Neilly, Ed. Brannan.

SCHOOL DAYS WERE RECALLED DURING REUNION

IT'S STILL REUNION

Reunion time has gone, but it is still a subject of conversation. In the top right photo, taken by J. J. McCaffrey, Walter C. Cain, former separate school teacher, now Ontario's deputy-minister of lands and forests, is presenting a came to R. E. Manning (both lacrosse stars), whose blacksmith shop beside the school was al- most a department of the school. Newmarket separate school was a pioneer in "shopwork"! The bouquet "Bob" holds was for Mrs. Manning.

The other two pictures are used by courtesy of the Toronto Star. In the top left are seen (left to right) Mrs. H. E. Gilroy (Rhena Muir), Mrs. J. E. Morris (Beryl Bogart), Mrs. C. S. Gil- bert (Marjorie Taylor), and Miss Connie Rondhouse.

You can pick them out of the lower picture for yourself. That's Art Hill pretending that he is the teacher, with four former Newmarket teachers right in front of him, Waldon Lawr, K. C., Toronto, with hands crossed, J. E. Harvey, Lakfield, behind him, W. L. Kidd, with arms folded, in the foreground, and behind him Mrs. R. J. D. Simpson (Laura Wickett).

Will Hepburn Attend King Fete, Arranged By Mulock?

LIBERALS FROM ALL PARTS OF CANADA HONOR
LEADER

Commemorating the 20th an- niversary of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King's nomina- tion as leader of the Liberal party in Canada, leading busi- ness men, educationists and statesmen from all parts of Can- ada will assemble at a banquet in the Royal York hotel, Toron- to, on the evening of Aug. 8. Col. W. P. Mulock, M. P., for North York, is chairman of the arrangements committee.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, min- ister of justice and close friend of the prime minister, will pre- side during the evening, while all federal cabinet ministers and provincial premiers will be at the head table. Representatives of many Liberal clubs and organi- zations in Canada, including members of the Twentieth Century Liberal club, will also be present on this unique occa- sion.

Arrangements have been made to have the speech of the prime minister broadcast over a nation- al hook-up from 10 until 11 p.m.

While it has been suggested that the prime minister may an- nounce the date of the forthcom- ing federal election during the course of his radio address, no confirmation of this was avail- able. In view of the possibility of an election, there is even more speculation concerning the question whether Premier Mil- chell Hepburn will be present to unspeak all he has spoken.

Those Lady Ball Tossers Specialize In Home Runs

TWO TEAMS GET RUN FOR RUN ALMOST ALL WAY THROUGH

Alex. Webster's charming and heavy-hitting softballers are im- proving every time out. There were weaknesses evident when Unionville visited here on Friday evening, at the fair grounds, but anybody who has followed the girls' history from their humble beginnings this year can't help but be impressed with the im- provement and promise.

The game ended as a 10-all tie at the end of the seventh, when an agreement to play two extra innings was made. Both got three runs in the seventh, and Unionville got two in the ninth. Darkness prevented Newmarket going to bat, and the extra in- nings were washed out.

One of the pleasing spots in the game was the work in left field of Mary Raymond, whose catches were away ahead of her batting. Another girl to do some really smart fielding was Lois

REDMEN BRING ROSES HOME FROM R. HILL

Newmarket Redmen continued their winning streak over Rich- mond Hill by taking a close 4-2 decision last Thursday evening on the Hill's home diamond.

Wesley Niles performed on the mound for the Redmen with Charlie VanZant on the receiv- ing end.

Peewee Hilton starred for Newmarket, especially at bat, where he found Bennett's famed slow ball just to his liking.

RICHMOND HILL DROPS GAME TO SUTTON, 4-3

In one of the fastest games seen by Sutton softball fans this season, Sutton topped their rivals from Richmond Hill, 4-3, on Wednesday night, on the Sutton grounds.

Sutton got ten hits during the game, and collected two runs in the first inning, one in the fourth, and one in the fifth.

Loose fielding occurred near the end of the game, however, and the Suttonites let the Rich- mond Hill batters through for three runs in the seventh inning, after two men were out.

Richmond Hill had only four hits in the game, Milroy, Sutton, pitcher, striking out nine men in the seven innings.

Stonge, Richmond Hill hurler, struck out four batters. Irwin Tomlinson of Sutton was the best hitter, getting a single, a double and a triple in three trips to the plate.

FIRE LEVELS TWO BARN ON KESWICK FARM WITH HEAVY LOSS, CATTLE BURNED

A disastrous fire, believed to have been caused by spontane- ous combustion, destroyed two barns and valuable contents on the farm of Angus Cowleson, a mile north of Keswick, Tuesday evening.

Ten head of prize cattle, a new binder, a new electric milking machine and a large quan- tity of hay and grain were des- troyed. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

Angus Cowleson, owner of the farm, was in Toronto at the time, and his son, Charles, was in the fields when the fire started. Re- turning towards the barns to milk the cows, he saw both barns ablaze, while he was still half a mile away.

Neighbors were soon on the scene but they and Mr. Cowle- son were able to rescue only one horse. The fire is thought to have started in the smaller barn where a quantity of hay was stored.

HARE AND TORTOISE

Quite a few people seem to be taking a turn at giving advice to the graduates of 1939, both high school and university. We too like giving advice. Our first advice to those who propose to start their career in this bright and promising year of 1939 is not to do it if an additional year or years of schooling are available. The man who goes farthest in life is the one who is best prepared, and there is no job that is comparable to school or university as a preparation for life. There are many who think that they can educate themselves better without any school's help than they can in school or university, but most of these people fool themselves. There are occasional people who have what it takes to educate themselves in the evenings and on holidays when others are playing. Outstanding examples of well-educated men who never attended universities are Bernard Shaw and H. G. Wells. We have also within our personal acquaintance two or three people in the same category, men who have never attended university but who are or will be eventually better educated than the average university graduate. Let us remember that these are exceptional people and that most of us will do well to get all the formal education that we or our parents can afford.

Good School, Low Wages

Our second piece of advice is not to expect too much remuneration. The high paid job for a beginner usually leads into a blind alley. The low paid job is more likely to take you somewhere. The job in which an inexperienced person can earn a full wage is obviously not one in which there is much future. The job in which the beginner can earn only a low wage is more likely to be one in which there is much to learn. This is not an invariable rule, but it is a good general principle to bear in mind. For instance, the young man who wishes to become a business man cannot do better than enter a bank but he will receive a low wage. The reason is that his services are not worth much or, in other words, that he has much to learn. The bank not only gives him an excellent training in bookkeeping and business practice but it pays him his board. Another young man chooses a job as a truck-driver and gets considerably more wages, but after a year or two he is no further ahead. Any boy out of high school could step into his job and be as good as he is in a week. There is not as much future in that sort of job.

More Air Higher Up

The last piece of advice is a word of encouragement. It is difficult but not impossible to get ahead in the world today. Those who study and work hard to qualify themselves for better positions get them almost invariably. Most employers are looking for men and women to fill particular jobs, but there is always a scarcity of persons of outstanding qualifications for any position of responsibility. If there were a dozen E. W. Beattys in Canada, they would all have jobs. There is lots of room at the top, and there is far more room on the rung right above you than on the rung you are now on, but you have to work hard, never stop thinking and studying, and never tire of preparing yourself. Take the job that offers, but make it into a bigger job or make yourself ready for the bigger job that is sure to come—if you are ready.

TEMPERANCE, WHAT CRIMES IN THY NAME

"Working the old trick in Uxbridge," is the heading for a paragraph editorial in the Stouffville Tribune. The Tribune puts it well: "Three hundred citizens of the town of Uxbridge have signed a petition asking the municipal council to submit a vote to the people calling for the open bar in the town, where local option carried about 25 years ago. The old gag of the liquor interests is being waffled over the community, of bringing back the open bar for the beer guzzlers on the plea that the bootlegger has got to be driven out. The gag is that the law is being allowed to fall into disrepute with the very idea of swinging the people back to the open bar. If the law cannot be made to operate against the bootlegger, it is not reasonable to suppose that it can operate to keep the open bar in bounds."

FORGET WHAT YOU HEARD

You get a very different impression of Germany, her government and her people when you read one of the advertisements of the "German State Railways" appearing in Canadian publications. A picturesque picture of a German town adorns an advertisement in a recent Financial Post. You are invited to "come to beautiful Germany for a thrilling, romantic summer holiday." "You will be warmly welcomed." You will "thrill to the charm of the romantic Rhineland, the glories of the blue Danube; revel in Goethe's Weimar; taste student gaiety at Heidelberg; see the art treasures of Berlin, Dresden, Munich and Vienna" (part of Germany now, you know). "Or the supreme musical experience of the festivals at Bayreuth and Salzburg! Or regain your health at one of Germany's world-famous spas." Imagine going to Nazi-land for your health! "You and your family will enjoy a world of pleasure, gaiety, fashion, history, romance, art and sport!"

Why Can't We Agree?

And there is a "60 per cent reduction in railroad fares for Canadian visitors. Travel marks permit a further saving to you of about 40 per cent on your tourist expenditures. Canadians need no visa. Germany is now as inexpensive as it is delightful!" What a happy world this would be if there were no arms, armaments, wars or rumors of war. We could put our extra energy into the production of goods to enable us all to take a turn at travel in the other fellow's country.

PAYING TEACHERS

Commenting on the large number of teachers who applied for vacant positions on Fergus and Acton public school staffs, the Stouffville Tribune says: "Just recently when the Stouffville school board refused to increase salaries of the public school staff beyond $900 for lady teachers they unquestionably acted in accordance with the wishes of the ratepayers, who might rightly protest paying unnecessarily high salaries when the market is flooded with available teachers."

Are We Short-Sighted?

The Tribune is probably right about the wishes of the ratepayers, but are the ratepayers right? It would pay the ratepayers, in Stouffville, Newmarket and everywhere else, to be a little more generous. It is true that there are more teachers than there are jobs today, and that school boards can obtain teachers at even $400 or $500 a year, because even teachers have to eat, but school boards, and the public they represent, are diverting the ablest men and women to other professions when they make the teaching profession so unattractive. They can get lots of good teachers today, but in a few years time we will reap the penalty for our niggardliness today.

Trustees of Minds

To medical men, whom we trust with the health of our bodies, the public pays anywhere from $3,000 to $8,000 a year, but to teachers, whom we entrust with our children's minds and characters, we pay less than $1,000 a year. If we paid medical men similarly they would be able to afford about one year's university preparation for their profession, and soon the ablest men wouldn't be bothered with the medical profession at all. For the present, and for as long as we continue to remunerate teachers as we would clerks and artisans, we may be thankful that the medical profession have control of their own educational standards and their own remuneration.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL QUALIFICATIONS

The municipal act is much in need of revision with regard to the qualification of councillors. For instance, it is not clear whether a teacher can sit on a municipal council. Most municipal councils would be strengthened by the presence of a teacher or two. Premier Hepburn has promised the Ontario Teachers' Federation, we understand, that if anyone will challenge the right of a teacher to sit on a municipal council his government will amend the act to make the right undoubted. Newmarket has a teacher on its town council, and we know, in view of Mr. Hepburn's position, that this teacher and the teachers of the province generally would welcome a challenge to his right to sit on the council.

Challenge Welcomed

When and if Mr. Hepburn clarifies the act on this point, he should at the same time abolish appointive high school boards in favor of elective boards similar to the public school boards. This would relieve a high school teacher as a member of a town council of the embarrassment of having the council appoint some of the members of the high school board. Newmarket's councillor-teacher is a high school teacher, and so far has refrained from taking any part in any discussion, deliberation or voting which concerned the high school or the high school board. A public school teacher would have no embarrassment at all as a member of a town council, unless it were in dealing with the public school levy. And a high school teacher would have no embarrassment if the town had either an elective high school board (not now possible) or an elective board of education handling both public and high school affairs.

Few Qualified

As the municipal act now stands, there are few business men in a town the size of Newmarket who could qualify for public office if they were challenged. Practically every business man in town has some business transactions with the town, particularly since relief has made grocers, landlords, doctors and other recipients of town money. Few people would feel that they could afford to do as last week's Era recorded that the late T. J. Robertson did, gave the town free legal services for the 25 years that he was a member of the council. We doubt if more than three members of Newmarket's council could qualify for office if challenged. Even our genial reeve would lose out, under the present practice of all Newmarket insurance brokers sharing in the town's insurance business. We quote the Barrie Examiner: "The last issue of the Municipal World gave the opinion that councillors who act as insurance agents carrying risks on any municipal property of the municipality they represent automatically are disqualified."

Revision Due

In other words, a law that is a good law for cities and perhaps even for towns as large as Barrie, is not practicable for municipalities of the size of Newmarket or smaller, if we want the ablest men handling our municipal affairs, and of course we do.

LIFE SAVING

After being raked from the lake bottom, seven minutes after he disappeared from the surface, a 19-year-old Toronto youth was resuscitated at Port Perry last week. The doctor worked over him for half an hour before there was any sign of life. The seven minutes, as reported, may be an exaggeration or it may not be. It is worth pointing out, however, that there are cases on record of persons being revived after even longer periods of submersion, and that there are cases on record where persons have been revived after four and even six hours artificial respiration. It is not hopeless until rigor mortis sets in.

SWEET LITTLE BUTTERCUP

When the writer was a small boy, it was the custom, and we suppose it still is a custom among children, to hold a buttercup under the other fellow's chin to see if he liked butter. If there was a yellow reflection on his skin, he liked butter. Under that test it worked out that everybody liked butter, on bright days anyway. These are bright days in Newmarket and we can't understand why

The Common Round

MY FRIENDS AMONG RIVERS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Have you ever tried to define what you yourself meant by a friend and I do not mean the stereotyped definition one finds in a dictionary. To me, a friend is one who accepts me, with all my limitations, and makes the best of me, who is ready to weep or rejoice with me; whose presence is soothing and from whom I will receive an unbiased opinion regarding vexed questions.

Now, of course, a river has its limitations. It can't answer you back, and it can't give advice; but it can soothe and comfort. Upon its broad bosom you can rest and absorb something of its strength and eternal purpose.

Into its depths you can pour your worries and uncertainties, with no fear that they will ever be repeated and even when a river lashes out in wild, white fury, it gives one a sense of strength and restlessness that buoy up your own flagging courage.

When I was a little child we lived beside the river Tay. To my childish mind it represented the grandeur of the Amazon and the wonder of the Nile.

Everything I read about rivers, I translated in terms of the Tay.

To go, in boat or canoe along its winding length, so narrow in some places that trees met overhead; to land in some sheltered cove and splash round in shallow water, and finally to consume quantities of beef loaf, salad, bread and butter and chelsea buns, accompanied by coffee, made on an improvised fire-place—said coffee often having a decidedly burnt flavor—constituted one of the highlights of my childhood.

That river was a friend, you see, for I played with it and in it, and grew to love it in all its moods, for it allowed me to learn to paddle and to row, and its limitation of wild waves was never enough to daunt even a timid child.

My next friend was the Rideau River.

It was a more mysterious friend. It was larger and it had moods. Sometimes it sulked in sullen quietude, suddenly breaking into nasty choppy waves that gave you a queer feeling as they slapped the sides of the boat and seemed to want to get rid of you.

There were locks to navigate and I hated the slow rising and falling as the water was let out or in—I always felt as if I left my stomach at the top as we went slowly down, and if one were in a small boat with those horrid, slimy, cold walls rising round, imagination made me the victim of a ruthless enemy who had thrust me into a dungeon. But there were nights when moonlight turned the river into a ribbon of shining silver; when shadows were so deceptive that one felt as if one had strayed into a maze, for channels appeared where no channels should be, and a moon fairy's wand seemed to have turned the friendly river of the shining, sunny blue of daytime, into an enchanted sheet of water, where nothing was what it seemed. And then my last and most abiding friend among rivers was the mighty St. Lawrence.

Like a great, strong friend it daily flowed beside us. On its shining waters went the great steamships carrying people from place to place. Majestically these great boats sailed along, their huge swells sending smaller craft scurrying to safety, unless one headed directly into them and had the thrill of the sudden rise and fall.

One saw the great grain boats ploughing along, with their cargoes destined to turn eventually into the "staff of life."

Back and forth like a shuttle, too, sped the ferry, loaded with people and cars—some destined to travel independently along in their own cars—some boarding trains for trips here and trips there.

And near and far sail-boats—their sails so neatly, at times, touching the water, that I felt I turned away, they'd be engulfed in the trough of the waves, and row boats going leisurely along, some loaded with picnickers, some just taking advantage of the pleasant day for an outing among the islands. And sometimes, as you drifted close to shore on an evening when nature seemed to hold her breath, when the crimson and daffodil hues of the sunset sky were mirrored in the water, and the sound of voices singing came to us from a distant boat, we felt we knew this mighty river—it was giving us of its glorious beauty, its restfulness and grandeur. But perhaps another time, every wave would foam with rage and dare you to brave its rising temper.

We do not usually choose our friends from among those who have no moods—monotony is a deadly menace to friendship—so the St. Lawrence was a friend in all its moods. It soothed us when it was tranquil; its soft lapping song made a wonderful lullaby, and its wild moods seemed to give vent, by proxy, to our irritation and impatience.

So can you wonder I feel that to live with a river is to live with a friend?

A POSSIBLE SAVING

According to the Midland Free Press, "by special arrangements made by the Ontario government with the banks, funds for relief purposes can now be obtained at an interest rate of four per cent, which is a half of one per cent less than the prevailing rate on Midland's bonds." We believe that Newmarket's bank interest rate is still above four per cent. How much money do we borrow for relief purposes, while awaiting government reimbursement, and would there be any appreciable saving at four per cent?

Newmarket boasts a four-legged chicken. It was owned by Mr. Forhan but was handled so much by the curious that it lived only eight or nine days. We understand John Ough got possession at a fabulous price, but the sudden termination of its existence prevented the speculation panning out and he now preserves his treasure in alcohol.

About 20 members of Newmarket Lawn Tennis club, in three rigs, left early yesterday for an outing at Lake Simcoe.

The A. O. U. W. occupied their new premises over the Ontario Bank for the first time last Monday evening.

Those who are in the habit of boating on the pond frequently remark upon the delightfully romantic spot at the head of navigation.

Alfred Dennis has no objection whatever to those who go there if they behave themselves. The little rascals who were carrying off the bridge plank last week will not get off so easy next time.

A valuable two-year-old colt belonging to Mr. Denno was injured by the Atlantic Express last week and had to be destroyed.

Toronto got a bit of a shock this week when it was learned that the young lady selected to be "Miss Toronto" for 1939 is really a "Mrs." Entered as Nan Morris, "Miss Toronto" is Mrs. J. G. Morris.

GEORGE COOK DIES AT MAIN ST. HOME, WAS 63

After an illness of one month George Oswald Cook died at his home, 214 Main St., Newmarket, on July 1. He had suffered a stroke, the third in eight years, on June 5.

The late Mr. Cook was born in Lemonville on July 27, 1877, the son of Annie and Abraham Cook. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Allan Bartholomew, Newmarket; Mrs. Carman Powell, Vienna, Ont.; three brothers, Edward, Orillia; Thomas, Fort William; John, Niagara Falls, N. Y.; three sisters, Mrs. O. Flewell, Ballintrae; Mrs. Neabitt, Aurora; Mrs. Hoover, Markham.

Mr. Cook was a member of the Orange Lodge and attended Trinity United church. By profession he was a mechanic.

The funeral was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. O. Flewell, Ballintrae, on July 4, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Irwin.

Interment was in Stouffville cemetery. Pallbearers were Len Owens, Harrison Armstrong, Wm. Hall, Norman Plehring, Doug. Hall and Stanley Stephens.

MERRY CRITICIZES OTHER FOLKS' CHILDREN

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"I feel that I must speak to Mrs. Flicker," said Merry Chickadee firmly to her mate, Young Chips. "I know that bird at the nest now is the female. She has no black moustache like her husband has."

"What about?" inquired Young Chips.

"About her children," Merry told him. "They have a nest right across from us in that old dead beech tree—the one with the top off it. And Mrs. Flicker ought to feel ashamed of the racket those youngsters make."

"Does it really bother you?" inquired Young Chips mildly.

"Bother me?" echoed Merry. "Their constant shrieking drives me crazy. They start about five o'clock in the morning and keep it up steadily. And it isn't as if they were tiny and didn't know any better. They are great big hulking youngsters that look fully grown—and yet they are still in the nest, being fed by their mother."

"She should just refuse to bring them food," suggested Young Chips. "That would soon bring them out."

"Bird mothers don't often do that sort of thing," said Merry. "Just listen to that long drawn out squeak—one of the young ones sticks his head away out of their hole and just gives that tiresome, whining call until one of the parents comes back with a load of insects for them. And then, there's ever a commotion. It sounds like a small war. And it's my belief that some of the bigger ones get far more food than the others. The mother feeds whatever head bobs out of the hole—but I wonder if she keeps track of who gets what."

"Oh well, that's not our worry," commented Young Chips placidly.

"I think I'll tell their mother what I think, all the same," said Merry, and rushed away impulsively.

"Well, I spoke to Mrs. Flicker and I wish I hadn't happened to pick today to do it," she announced a few minutes later.

"Was she annoyed?" asked Young Chips.

"Yes—and moreover, her family is in trouble," Merry told him. "Just this morning her husband's brother ran into the windshield of a car and was killed. Naturally they are quite upset about it—and I did wish I hadn't complained about the noise her children were making."

"She said that she has seven young ones in that nest," Merry continued, "and that she can't keep them quiet. Her nest is about 12 inches deep and she thinks her youngsters are quite smart to climb up and lean out of the entrance."

"She says her mate has helped her with them a great deal—he sat on the eggs part of the time, too. They feed the young ones young. "Yes, they don't become a handsome black white and red like their parents until next winter," said Woody. "By the way, I suppose you know that there was a family of Loggerhead Shrikes living not far from here. With their white and rusty gray coloring, and their black wings, tail and legs, they are really very pretty birds."

"I'm horrified to hear that there are some around here," said Merry. "Why, they say that they have much the same habits as their cruel cousins, the Northern Shrikes, and sometimes kill small birds."

"They live mostly on grasshoppers and mice, and eat small birds if other food is scarce," said the Woodpecker. "I wouldn't worry too much about them."

"I must certainly warn the children to be very, very careful," said Merry. "I'll tell them right now. There's one of ours over in the next tree, but I'll have to hunt for the others."

ONE OLD BOY HEARS TOO LATE OF REUNION

Frederick C. S. Knowles, attorney and counsellor-at-law, Brant Lake, New York, writes The Era that he would have been "delighted to attend" the old boys' reunion had he known about it. He feels badly that he "was not remembered with an invitation."

It is unfortunate that someone did not send him his name to the reunion committee, but his letter is further evidence of the old timers' loyalty to the old town.

Mr. Knowles writes for copies of The Era containing an account of the old boys' reunion.

POLICE COURT ADMITS SWIPING BOILED POTATOES

Winston Rogers, 22, no address, was sentenced to jail for six months after he pleaded guilty last week to a charge of breaking and entering Percy Hill's service station at Nobleton. Magistrate Ross Hosack imposed the sentence in police court here on Tuesday.

George Cunliffe, 24, Sudbury, was given suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year on the same charge as Rogers. On a charge of receiving stolen goods taken by Rogers and Cunliffe, Edgar Sullivan, 20, York township, was also given suspended sentence and placed on probation for one year.

"You were in trouble one month ago and now you are going to get a second chance," Magistrate Hosack told Sullivan. "Why you got into trouble again I can't understand. This is a serious crime and next time you'll get a severe term."

"You have not been in trouble since 1931," the magistrate told Cunliffe. "That is a long while and because of that long period you will get suspended sentence also. I hope your father endeavors to keep you out of trouble, as he seems to take an interest in you."

"You are in a different position," the magistrate told Rogers. "You have had several offences and this has been a nasty affair. You've had chance after chance and not made good. All I can suggest is that you try to make another effort to go straight after you have served your six months."

Bill was set at $500 for F. W. Tansley, Roche's Point, on a charge of having unlawful possession of liquor and the charge was adjourned for hearing until Aug. 8.

After pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering into the premises of Washington Sty, Holland Landing, Dalton West, Toronto, was given suspended sentence and was ordered by the magistrate to get well away from Sty and the district. Lewis Raxlen, Toronto, was defence counsel.

Sergeant Sydney Barraclough stated that he investigated the break-in and that he questioned West, who said he knew nothing. Later West said he had been drinking and didn't know what he was doing when he entered the Sty house and took a kettle-full of cooked potatoes.

A charge of reckless driving laid against John McRae, Beaverton, by Constable William Burke, Sutton, was dismissed. Mr. McDonald was defence counsel.

Dick Longman, Sutton West, stated that McRae made two wide turns while going around a corner and struck the rack on his truck.

Constable Burke stated that the McRae car, after hitting the truck, travelled across the road and 14 feet in the ditch.

Two defence witnesses stated that the Longman truck was two feet four inches over the centre of the road at the time of impact.

POLICE COURT TWO FINED ON NEW "CARELESS" CHARGE

Convicted on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place, Clarence Fuller, King township, was sentenced to jail for three months, his premises were declared public, and the beer found was ordered confiscated. Fuller took the jail term instead of paying the fine of $100 with costs of $19. Lewis Raxlen, Toronto, was defence counsel. A second charge of keeping liquor for sale was dismissed.

"On June 17, at 11:30 p.m., accompanied by Constables Watt and Fleury I went to the home of Fuller on the twelfth concession of King," testified Sergeant Sydney Barraclough. "The house was very small and had only one room. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller were in the house and Constable Fleury produced a search warrant, which he showed them. I asked Fuller if he had any liquor or beer and he said he hadn't a drop in the place. On looking around the room I noticed one board in the floor was cut, so I raised it and put my arm under the floor and I took out 15 quarts of ale. The bottles had just been pushed under the floor and were not in a case. When I asked Fuller about them he said he had put them under the floor to keep cool. I noticed that the bottles were all wet and cold whereas the floor was dry."

"Leaving Constable Fleury in the house with Fuller, Constable Watt and I started to make a search outside," continued Constable Barraclough. "The Humber River runs close to the house and I noticed a path leading down 18 paces from the house door to an elm tree well out in the water. The water had washed some old sticks to the root of the tree and under the roots of the tree I found six pints of beer in the water. A short distance away there were some stepping-stones leading to a small island and I found five more full bottles around the island. Another quart bottle was also found floating in the river. We went back to the house and the constable told us that Fuller had gone out for some water and had not returned. We packed up the beer and waited for some time but he did not return, so we left the house. Four cars pulled up to the house during the time that we were there, but all left when they saw us. We returned to Fuller's about 2:30 a.m. and he was there, so we arrested him."

"Have you ever seen anyone fishing in the river?" asked Mr. Raxlen.

"No," answered Constable Barraclough.

Constable Fleury stated that Fuller asked if he could get a pail of water and he gave him permission to get it but that he did not return. Fuller had told him that he got in four cases of beer that week but that he didn't drink it, the constable said.

Constable Watt testified that when Fuller was searched at the jail farm they found $31, mostly in one dollar bills, and $7 in 25 and 50 cent pieces in his pockets.

Douglas Sheardown, Bolton, testifying for the defence, stated that he had formerly been a game warden in that district for several years. The stream behind Fuller's house is not the Humber but is called Cole Creek and it empties into the Humber and it is well known as a trout stream, Sheardown stated.

"Have you ever seen any bottles of beer left along the creek?" asked Magistrate Hosack.

"No," answered Sheardown. "But I have found dozens of empty bottles."

Fuller testified that he had ordered the beer found in the house from a Toronto brewery, as they were going to have a party that night, when several people were coming up from Toronto. Fuller stated that he had never sold any beer and that he didn't know anything about the beer found in the river or around the elm tree. Fuller stated that he worked out for different farmers and that his wife received $50 every three or four months from her grandmother's estate and that was how they lived.

"Did your company come from Toronto the night the police visited your place?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K. C.

"There were 11 of them at my place but they had left before the police came," answered Fuller.

"Isn't it a fact that you have only three chairs and a couch in your house?" "Yes."

"Why did you tell the constables you hadn't any beer in the house?" "They asked me if I had any liquor."

The magistrate stated there should be some definite evidence of selling liquor and he dismissed that charge. As Fuller's was the only house along there and because Fuller's only explanation for the beer found in the creek was that it had been left there by fishermen, the magistrate said that he had come to the conclusion that the beer was his.

Convicted on a charge of careless driving William Dundas, Toronto, was fined $5 and costs.

John Gilbert, Toronto, testified that he was going south across the Bradford flats following a bread truck but that because of the heavy northbound traffic he was unable to pass the truck. "Dundas tried to pass me with other traffic coming and he cut in too short and caught my front fender and his car turned over and mine was turned the other way. Both cars were damaged."

Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson testified that he investigated the accident and found the Dundas car had turned over in the ditch and was lying against the fence. The Dundas car had skidded sideways and then rolled over in the ditch, the constable stated.

Dundas testified that when he turned out to pass the Gilbert car he was quite satisfied he had room to get in and he thought he had passed the car but that the next thing he knew he was in the ditch.

Vincent Hickey, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs for careless driving.

Constable Ferguson stated that he started to follow Hickey at Holland Landing when he passed three cars and blew his horn loudly at each one. "I followed Hickey at 60 m.p.h. and after the hill at Huron St. he passed two cars on a hill but managed to get back into line after forcing a car onto the shoulder of the road. The car was driven at a high speed and I stopped it in Newmarket."

"No," answered Sheardown. "But I have found dozens of empty bottles."

Fuller testified that he had ordered the beer found in the house from a Toronto brewery, as they were going to have a party that night, when several people were coming up from Toronto. Fuller stated that he had never sold any beer and that he didn't know anything about the beer found in the river or around the elm tree. Fuller stated that he worked out for different farmers and that his wife received $50 every three or four months from her grandmother's estate and that was how they lived.

"Did your company come from Toronto the night the police visited your place?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Matthews, K. C.

"There were 11 of them at my place but they had left before the police came," answered Fuller.

"Isn't it a fact that you have only three chairs and a couch in your house?" "Yes."

"Why did you tell the constables you hadn't any beer in the house?" "They asked me if I had any liquor."

The magistrate stated there should be some definite evidence of selling liquor and he dismissed that charge. As Fuller's was the only house along there and because Fuller's only explanation for the beer found in the creek was that it had been left there by fishermen, the magistrate said that he had come to the conclusion that the beer was his.

Convicted on a charge of careless driving William Dundas, Toronto, was fined $5 and costs.

John Gilbert, Toronto, testified that he was going south across the Bradford flats following a bread truck but that because of the heavy northbound traffic he was unable to pass the truck. "Dundas tried to pass me with other traffic coming and he cut in too short and caught my front fender and his car turned over and mine was turned the other way. Both cars were damaged."

Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson testified that he investigated the accident and found the Dundas car had turned over in the ditch and was lying against the fence. The Dundas car had skidded sideways and then rolled over in the ditch, the constable stated.

Dundas testified that when he turned out to pass the Gilbert car he was quite satisfied he had room to get in and he thought he had passed the car but that the next thing he knew he was in the ditch.

Vincent Hickey, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs for careless driving.

Constable Ferguson stated that he started to follow Hickey at Holland Landing when he passed three cars and blew his horn loudly at each one. "I followed Hickey at 60 m.p.h. and after the hill at Huron St. he passed two cars on a hill but managed to get back into line after forcing a car onto the shoulder of the road. The car was driven at a high speed and I stopped it in Newmarket."

Sandford

The decoration service at Sandford cemetery will be held Sunday, July 16, at 2:30 p.m.

The garden party at Sandford United church held on James Smith's lawn last Wednesday was a decided success. The supper was all that could be desired, both in variety of baking and quantity. The program was one of the best and was enjoyed by the large number who came from many parts for this annual event. The night was a perfect one, which lent itself to make the occasion a success.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. George Cook and daughters wish to thank the relatives, friends and neighbors for their expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes extended to them in the loss of their dear husband and father, especially thanking intimate friends for their thoughtfulness during his illness.

In Memoriam

Allen - In loving memory of our mother, Jimmie Wesley Allen, who passed away July 13, 1935. Your last parting wish we would like to have heard.

And breathe in your ear our last parting word;
Only those who have lost are able to tell.

The pain in the heart at not saying farewell.
Ever remembered by the family.

Barker - In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Harry Barker, Ravenshoe, who passed away July 12, 1937.

Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still.

Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

Groves - In sad and loving memory of my dear husband, James H. Groves, who passed away July 17, 1927.

Sad years have passed since that day
When one we loved was called away;

God took him home; it was his will Forget him? No, we never will.

Lovingly remembered by Wife.

PEPPER AND SALT

BY "PEP"

A mysterious throat ailment nearly consigned young Joe Tunney to the Great Fielder last week. Joe had been stricken and was unable to eat food. In order to keep him alive the doctors had to inject food through his body. Joe pulled through and is gradually improving now.

Joe played goal for the 1937-38 Aurora junior hockey squad, which was defeated by Orangeville in the Ontario finals. Last summer he took over the hot corner on the Newmarket softball team and got his share of honors. He then secured a good office position in Toronto and was lost to local sports. Joe also includes basketball, lacrosse and rugby in his repertoire—a good, all-round athlete.

Speedy Giles pulled off the best base steal I have ever clamped eyes on in last Monday's encounter with Fennell's. In the fourth inning he was encamped on the third slot and when the entire Fennell's squad appeared to be communing with the gods above, Speedy sauntered, blushing like a school-boy, over the plate.

He was wearing "crisps" and absence of the regular club "monkey suit" fooled the catcher completely. Incidentally, Speedy is also an exponent of the "hidden-ball" trick.

The local softball femmes need some bolstering in the infield if last Friday's game with Unionville is a criterion. They also lack the very necessary moniker or trade name. Exploits of our hockey and softball stars have made the "Redmen" a famous symbol of an enterprising town called Newmarket.

In a few years, perhaps, the girls will crash more than local headlines, but they will need a catchword with pep and "eye-appeal" to do it. Any suggestions will be welcomed in this corner.

After tonight's contest with Sutton the Redmen will have five games to play before their schedule runs out Aug. 8. They will play only one game with Sutton and the Hill and the other three will be soft touches.

CO-OPERATIVES GROW

SAYS SALVATIONIST

Newmarket's new Salvation Army officers are Adjutant and Mrs. S. G. Boulton, who come here from New Waterford, Cape Breton, N. S. They have two daughters, Doris and Joyce, and one son, Kenneth.

Adjutant Boulton is an Ontario man but has served 20 years in the Maritimes. His predecessor here, Adjutant Jack Batten, has gone to Kirkland Lake.

Although not active in the co-operative movement, Adjutant Boulton is able to tell something of the movement which has put Cape Breton and eastern Nova Scotia on the map and made this area a mecca for co-operators and educationists from all parts of the North American continent.

Co-operation is a successful movement in Nova Scotia, Adjutant Boulton said. A large new co-operative store has just been erected in New Waterford. He has also seen Tompkinsville, the model housing co-operative project, near Glace Bay.

IS HOLIDAYING
Everton Smith is enjoying holidays at home.

IS MUCH BETTER
Denne Bosworth, who fractured a cheekbone two weeks ago, is improving nicely.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Williamson wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Una Lorraine, to Lyle James Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bond, on Wednesday, July 12.

In honored memory of my dear parents, Joel and Elizabeth Thompson, long gone to rest. Also in loving memory of my dear son, Lloyd Prosser, who passed away July 12, 1938.

Today recalls sad memories
Of a dear son gone to rest
And the ones who think of him today.

Are the ones who loved him best.
Sadly remembered by Mother and Brothers, Stanley and Joel.

WOODCOCK HOMERS

WITH BASES FULL

The first two innings dragged the Sons of England down to defeat at the hands of the Office Specialty Co. at the Stuart Scott school grounds last evening.

The Specialty piled up ten runs and blanked the Sons. The final score left the Specialty exactly ten runs ahead, 16-6.

Aubrey Barker was the unlucky pitcher, and he was taken out at the end of the second in favor of Fred Evans, who pitched an air-tight game. Barker moved to the shortstop position and gave a good account of himself.

For the Specialty outstanding performances were given by Harold Craddock, on second, and at bat; Merlyn Widdifield, on first; Howard Wesley, as shortstop, and at bat; and by Woodcock, who knocked out a home run in the sixth with the bases full.

For the Sons the best were Charlie Evans, who was good behind the bat and at bat knocked a home run in the sixth, bringing in Aubrey Barker. Fred Evans scored a home run in the seventh, in addition to a good pitching performance.

COACH GROWS WILDER
AS GRASS FLOURISHES

You remember "the little prairie flower, growing wilder every hour"? That's the best description of Coach-Manager Alex. Webster at Fisherville last evening.

The playing field was, with a little exaggeration, a nice piece of prairie land, complete with gopher holes and buffalo wallows, high grass areas and drought areas, and Alex. was truly "growing wilder every hour."

It didn't do him any good, for his lady magicians lost out by the heart-breaking score of 18-17 in overtime play.

Highlights of the game were Moss Doane's home run with Vera Beckett on base in the seventh, Lucy Andrews' two three-buggers, a three-bagger by a new shortstop, May Brown, who didn't get a chance to show her field ability, the performance of Ruby Chant as pitcher and Dorothy Watson as catcher, and the shining accomplishments of Moss Doane on first and Lois Manning in centre field.

Dot Watson caught her best game this year, and demonstrated again the pluck that is taking her places in softball.

There was a good crowd, and lots of razz, which didn't improve the inexperienced Newmarket girls at all.

N: 0 0 1 2 3 5 2 2 2 - 17
F: 0 0 7 1 2 0 3 5 - 18

Fisherville tied the score in the seventh with two girls out and forced the extra disastrous innings, after Newmarket had recovered so nicely from Fisherville's third inning lead of six runs.

Newmarket: Vera Beckett 2b; Moss Doane 1b; Lucy Andrews cf and c; Lois Manning cf; Marjorie McCarnan lf and p; Mary Osborne 3b; Ruby Chant p and lf; Dot Watson c; May Brown ss; Mary Raymond (replacing Lucy Andrews in rf). Lucy Andrews replaced Dorothy Watson as catcher in the eighth.

Fisherville: S. Foster, M. Hillier, B. Snyder, P. Copeland, G. Riddell, M. Whitney, C. Hillier, R. French, T. Riddell.

Plate umpire: Delbert Gibney. Thornhill plays here Monday evening at the fair grounds.

Meet Newmarket Softball Team In Colorful Tussle

DARKNESS HALTS CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME IN SEVENTH FRAME

When Newmarket and Aurora teams meet on the softball diamond, the fans can be sure of fireworks, and the performance on Tuesday night gave ample evidence of this fact.

Aurora's performance, despite the absence of "Nugget" Shore, first-string hurler, showed plenty of strength in both pitching and hitting, but the boys almost gave the game to Newmarket on a platter with a little off-color fielding.

Bill Bone pitched for Aurora, took his time about doing it, and turned in a swell game. Bone is about the only pitcher Aurora has left, and Bone could take no chances. He didn't.

George Pattenden was brought up from the town league to fill a gap in the Aurora line-up, and he filled it to overflowing.

Pattenden went to bat three

With a view to avoiding a date which would conflict with the functions of other church groups, the Trinity Anglican church parochial guild has set the date of the annual bazaar and supper well in advance, Saturday, Nov. 25.

times. The first time, he knocked out a homer. The second time, he let drive with a three-bagger, with the bases loaded. The third effort landed him at first and he went to second on an overthrow.

But no one will ever know who won the ball game. Aurora managed to keep in the lead by a slender margin until the last, when Newmarket climbed into the driver's seat with a two-run lead.

Aurora went to bat in the last of the seventh and with one man on bases and none out, the umpire called the game on account.

ABOUT TOWN

HOW DO WE STAND?

Early in the council year, a month or so before the "group of five" announced its reign, council had a good idea. The idea was that instead of the usual monthly report of the town treasurer, a report would be submitted in council each month, showing what percentage of its budget each department had spent.

The thought was, we believe, that if each department knew how much it had spent, it would also know how much it had left to spend—and govern itself accordingly. We're not too sure, but we think one such report was submitted. It revealed nothing startling, but we expected that as the months rolled by, we would hear other such reports and be able to report to Aurora citizens how the council was getting along with the spending of the citizens' money.

Which is a little annoying, somehow. You see, the treasurer's reports of previous years were comparative ones. For example, it showed how much had been spent up to June, 1938, compared with how much had been spent up to June, 1939. The ratepayers got a fair idea of the spending ability of the various councils, and they, in their turn, were able to govern themselves accordingly.

And each time the former reports were received, there was a motion made that the "treasurer's report be received." This was comforting, as it assured us to some extent that there was actually a treasurer's report.

But things are different now—we haven't seen or heard of a treasurer's report for months. We don't know whether they are still being made or not. . . . we do know that no motion acknowledging their receipt has been made at regular meetings of council.

So we can't tell you how council is spending the money—whether they are getting rid of it faster than last year, or more slowly. For all we know, it may be all spent. We do know that council has had some pretty stiff bills to pay, and that it is more than ever important that council know how the money is lasting—and that we know that the council knows how the money is lasting. Or if it has lasted.

FIREMEN PLAN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

The firemen's convention, high spot in the life of the local volunteers, is to be held in Whitby this year. It will be a four-day affair, Chief Frank Rowe reports, ending on the civic holiday.

While it is not likely that any of the brigade will get away for the four days, most of the firefighters count on making an appearance, with a view to taking part in the parade and the contests.

The brigadeers are polishing up on their drill, therefore, and are holding evening practices to make sure they are up to par in their work. Last year the Aurora brigade was only two-tenths of a second from winning the ladder race, and, with a canny eye on the prize list, they are making their plans for this year's convention.

PRINCIPALS IN ATTRACTIVE WEDDING

HELP WANTED! -- GIRLS NEED AID IF THEY ARE TO HAVE TEN-DAY HOLIDAY

The "help wanted" sign is being hung out this week on behalf of the intermediate and senior girls of Aurora, who are hopeful of a holiday at Camp Ahshunyoong, but who are in need of a little financial help if they are to make the trip.

The fee for the ten-day holiday is only $7, Miss Vera Clarke told The Era this week, and while some of the girls are able to pay their own way, a number need one or two dollars to add to their savings and a few lack any money at all.

Last year the girls had an opportunity to earn money selling tickets to the musical festival, the performance of the Mendelssohn choir, and the jubilee year activities. This year, however, the only money they have been able to earn has come from the sale of musical festival tickets.

"There are some girls who have never been to camp, whom I would like to see go," said Miss Clarke. "They could go with a little assistance."

The senior girls range in age from 14 to 18 and their camping days are from July 17 to July 26, inclusive. The intermediate girls, 11 to 13 years old, go to camp after that. The camp is under religious leadership and guidance and every effort is made to see that those attending have an enjoyable as well as an interesting and instructive holiday.

Miss Annie Dunning, Temperance St., Miss Anna Duffin, Wells St., and Miss Vera Clarke, Catharine Ave., are three of the young ladies who are "going to bat" for the less privileged children, in an effort to find funds to make the holiday possible for them.

One of Aurora's "grand old ladies," Mrs. Stephen Howard, will celebrate her 92nd birthday on Wednesday, July 12. Despite the date, however, she is not a member of the Orange lodge. An elder sister, now deceased, also celebrated July 12 as her birth date.

Mrs. Howard, who before her marriage was Lavilla Margaret Proctor, was born in King. Her father was treasurer of King township for over a quarter of a century, and Mrs. Howard remembers him going all the way to Toronto to place the township's money in the bank. The money was carried in a carpet bag, and the trip was necessary because there was no bank north of Toronto.

Later, Joseph Cawthra started a bank in Newmarket, which lightened the treasurer's work considerably. Mrs. Howard remembers buying material for her wedding dress in Mitchell's dry goods store, which was located where Ardill's now stands. The other dry goods store was run by Charles Doane, on the opposite corner of the street.

Following her marriage Mrs. Howard lived in West Gwillimbury, later moving to Toronto to make a home for her sons there. For the past 15 or 16 years she has lived with her daughter, year's convention. Much of the credit for Aurora's class "A" fire insurance rating is due to the efficiency of the fire brigade, and the men make a real effort to maintain their fine reputation.

RUTH BILBROUGH IS WED IN KING CITY

An attractive wedding took place on Saturday afternoon in the Baptist church parsonage, King City, when Ruth Mary Bilbrough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bilbrough, was united in marriage to Mr. Bertram Wilson, of Kettleby.

The bride was gowned in Queen's blue sheer, with mauve belt and white accessories, wearing a corsage of mauve sweet peas. Miss Flossie Bilbrough, sister of the bride, attended her, dressed in dusky pink with white accessories.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with white hat and shoes, and the mother of the groom wore navy blue crepe, with dark hat and shoes. The groom's brother, Harry Wilson, was best man.

Following the ceremony, about 30 guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents, on Tyler St., for the reception. The happy couple left afterwards for a honeymoon trip by motor through the states. They will reside in Kettleby.

W. I. WILL MEET AT WALTON COUNTRY HOME

The July meeting of the Women's Institute will be held Thursday, July 27, at J. M. Walton's summer home in Kettleby. This meeting will be in the form of a picnic. Kettleby Women's Institute will meet with Aurora and put on the program.

A special bus will leave the Aurora post office at 2.45 p.m. All ladies wishing to attend are asked to get in touch with Mrs. J. Kieck before Monday, July 24. Everyone is invited to come and bring their baskets.

Beer Room Condemned By Speaker At "Dry" Organization Meeting

"LOOK AT POLICE COURT NEWS" IS ADVICE GIVEN AUDIENCE

EXECUTIVE IS ELECTED

Condemning the beverage room system in Ontario for bringing the stimulus of private profit to increase sales of beer, F. W. Lewis, field secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, spoke to an organization meeting of local temperance workers in the town hall on Monday night.

Every seat in the "court room" was taken and a number had to stand throughout the meeting.

"The beverage room will bring back the treating system," declared Mr. Lewis. He stated that the beverage rooms served to educate the young to drink.

"Look at your police court news," he said, contending that the beverage rooms contributed to highway accidents. "The beverage rooms absorb money which should be spent for food and clothing. The increased sale of beer leads to the increased use of hard liquor and to an increase in poverty."

Mr. Lewis urged that a careful scrutiny be made of any petition seeking the establishment of beverage rooms, to see that it was in order and that names were properly signed.

A vote could not be held until two months after the petition had been submitted to council, he stated. Qualifications for voters stipulated that they be British subjects, over 21 years of age, with 12 months residence in Canada and domiciled in Aurora for two months. Mr. Lewis said.

Erastus Harman, of the Baptist church, was named president

HAS LONG CAREER WITH ORANGE LODGE

Major W. H. Taylor, Aurora's able assessor, and one of the town's outstanding Orangemen, followed the Aurora boys' band in the Orange "walk" in Barrie on Wednesday. He has only missed one July 12 parade since he was eight years old. He has been on the board of the Orange orphanage for 16 years.

of the association for the temperance drive in Aurora. Mrs. Charles Bilbrough, United church, was elected vice-president. Lieutenant G. Ostryk of the Salvation Army was named secretary, and J. M. Walton, treasurer.

"I will do everything in my power to further the interests of temperance in our town," Mr. Harman stated. "I think we have sufficient men and women who will be true to their trust, their church and their neighbors, to put down this curse to our community."

"We can't sleep on the job," Mr. Harman warned. "We must be alive and alert and willing to do our part. Unless we are willing to sacrifice some of our own comforts, we may lose the battle."

The association's work will be carried on by the executive and by ward chairmen and vice-chairmen. D. M. Galbraith and Mrs. S. Stephens were appointed for ward one; S. Linton and Mrs. A. M. Clarke, ward two; L. Tindale and Mrs. A. E. Quinn, ward three; E. Glass and Mrs. A. Cousins, ward four; William Large and Mrs. C. Nisbett, ward five.

Arrangements for an executive meeting concluded the evening.

Same Thieves Stole Auto, Robbed Store, Police Think

YONGE ST. BUSINESSES AND M.O.H. SUFFER LOSS ON TUESDAY

Working in the alley behind the stores on the west side of Aurora's Yonge St. on Tuesday morning, thieves launched a crime wave that swept away a window in the co-operative store and broke into the offices of F. R. Underhill.

What the thieves got in the co-operative store was mostly "kid stuff," candles, cigarettes and tobacco and $1.25 in change. What they got in Mr. Underhill's office was a disappointment. They succeeded in breaking off the handle on the safe door, but did not succeed in breaking open the lock.

The loss at the co-operative store, variously reported as being from $10 to $100, is actually about $25, Manager Gordon Purchase states.

A Chevrolet coupe owned by the medical officer of health, Dr. C. R. Boulding, was also swept away by the crime wave and

TOWN LEAGUE STANDING

	W	L	Pts.
Town	3	1	6
Tannery	2	2	4
Foundry	2	1	4
Shoemen	0	3	0

With three straight wins this week, the town team again upsets the odds to nose the foundry from first place.

Police Chief Fisher Dunham, who is investigating, believes the car theft and the break-ins were the work of the same party, or gang.

Dr. Boulding's car, in apparently good condition, with some gasoline still in the tank, and with the doors locked, was found in Port Credit about midnight on Tuesday.

Past experiences support the view that the eye which Chief Dunham keeps on the Yonge St. stores is an unusually vigilant one, though his duties take him off the street at times. It is believed that the thieves made a study of the constable's nightly routine before they went to work.

Town Team Shows Class; Takes Tannery By 14-10

PLENTY OF HITTING POWER SEEN IN TOWN LEAGUE MONDAY NIGHT

Town and tannery teams met in a town league softball tussle on Monday night, with the towners out-slugging the tanners, 14 to 10.

The game was one of the best the league has seen this summer, and softball fans will do well to turn out next time the town goes to bat. Several of the lads could take over places in the town's Simcoe league team without much of a struggle.

The tannery got off to a good start in the first inning, with Kidd, Ferguson, Hodgins and Walker making successful trips round the bases. The town came back strong, however, and made it 6-4 on the strength of runs by McDonald, Bone, Sutton, Henney, Pattenden and Muford.

After a scoreless second inning, West dragged in a run for the tanners, and Muford came across with another run for the town to put the latter in a 7-5 position.

The margin remained the same at the end of the fourth, in which McDonald, Bone and Sutton came in for the town, and Kidd, Ferguson and Hodgins

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE GIVEN

With a total registration of 419 pupils, the average attendance at the Aurora public school in the past year was a little better than 360, a recent report shows. Of a total possible attendance of 78,334 days, the actual attendance was 72,087 days, on a loss of time of 6,247 days.

Distribution of the loss of time shows that illness accounted for 5,065 days; parental neglect, 535 days; home help, 403 days; physical obstacles, 35 days; truancy, 30 days; privies, 20 days; irregular closing, 39 days; other reasons, 137 days.

made the trip for the tanners. The town increased its lead in the fifth after Kidd had given the tannery one more run, by scoring on runs by Lloyd, Bone and Sutton.

Neither team scored in the sixth, and the tannery's comeback attempt in the seventh failed when Ferguson, Hodgins and Walker were put out by smart infield work after Kidd, the first batter, had knocked out a homer. Hodgins showed plenty of promise, pitching for the tanners, and Bone took care of the hurling department for the victorious town team. Ennis umpired a good game.

ANNUAL PICNIC MUCH ENJOYED BY BAPTISTS

Next to their Christmas celebration, and ranking equally with the last day of school, the biggest day of the year for pupils of the Baptist Sunday-school is the date of the annual picnic. On Saturday they gathered at the church and motored out to Alcona Beach, on Lake Simcoe.

Under the direction of Alan Billings, of the Baptist men's class, the picnic was run off on schedule and without accident.

Highlight of the day was the guessing competition for a watermelon donated by the pastor, Rev. A. R. Park. Isobel Dunning and Wesley Stephenson, who both guessed its weight at 20 pounds, were the winners, and divided their spoils with the rest.

George Stephenson guessed within one of the number of kernels of corn contained in a jar to qualify for another prize. Other prize winners were John Glass, Eva and Doris Dodd, Douglas Gilpin, Joan Horner, Mrs. N. Cook, Mrs. E. Fortier, Betty McKenzie and Clifford Fortier.

The teachers and staff had their innings in a spot race, the prize for which went to Mrs. James Dodd, To Mrs. Phillip Reynolds went the title of oldest lady present.

RAIN FAILS TO HALT ANGLICAN'S PICNIC

Under the direction of Rev. G. O. Lightbourn, Martin Southwood, Lorne Lee, John Offord and William Coleman, some 150 children and parents enjoyed the annual Sunday-school picnic of Trinity Anglican church, held at Blue Umbrella Park, Lake Simcoe, on Saturday.

While a shower held up the program for half an hour, competition in the various races and contests was keen and enthusiastic.

Prize winners were: Mrs. G. Wilcox, balloon blowing; Mrs. Ted Andrews, nail driving; Mrs.

ORANGEMEN MARCH TO TRINITY KIRK SERVICE

Numbers did not mean everything. Rev. W. F. Wrixon told members of L. O. L. 643 and L. O. B. A. 204, who attended Trinity Anglican church on Sunday night. A small number of men could be victorious over a multitude, he declared, "if they carried the sword of the Lord."

"The Orange lodge is the candle of the Protestant faith," Rev. Mr. Wrixon contended, and urged those present belonging to the lodge to carry the torch. "Put aside petty jealousies," he said. "Be Christ-like, vigilant, sober-minded, charitable, true to the church."

"We have our liberty, our Bible, our Union Jack, because others fought to save them," he stated. "History is full of cases of simple faith bringing victory." Seeing Rev. T. R. White in the congregation, Rev. Mr. Wrixon graciously stepped down to lead him forward to take part in the service. Rev. Mr. White was a member of the Aurora Orange lodge before he left Aurora some time ago, and he has recently returned here for a year's rest.

Some 50 children from the Orange home joined in the parade with the rest following the service and were afterwards entertained with a luncheon at the Orange hall. The parade was led by the Aurora boys' band, under the direction of Robert Moore.

Arrangements for the service were in the charge of Ewart Pinder, worshipful master, Aubrey Fleury, deputy master, and Sister Maude Hodgkinson, L. O. B. A. mistress.

John Offord, married women's race.

Boys' races: Eric Smith, Clifford Heath, Fred Southwood, Charles, Howard and Theodore Sutton. Girls' races: Marino Sayers, Eileen Offord, Paty and Shirley Sutton, Florence Palmer. The only mishap of the day occurred when Jean Footo cut her toe on a piece of glass while swimming.

SOFTBALL PLAYER FRACTURES HIS LEG

On Wednesday night of last week, Victoria Square Y.P.U. visited Mount Pisgah and played a league game of softball. During the game Harold Henricks, one of the Square players, had the misfortune to fall, receiving a double fracture of the leg. He was removed to the York County hospital at Newmarket.

On Saturday evening a large number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. Robt. Beatty and honored Miss Lula Beatty, a bride of this month, with a miscellaneous shower.

Notwithstanding the heat, a good crowd attended church on Sunday afternoon. The service was held in the basement, which was most comfortable.

Rev. Mr. Macdonald was in charge and spoke on the "Sin of Indifference," taking his text from Obadiah, the eleventh verse, "In the day that Thou stoolest on the other side, even Thou wast as one of them."

A good crowd of young people attended the Y. P. U. meeting on Sunday night. Ralph Boynton delivered an inspiring address.

The congregation of the Brethren in Christ church are holding a series of revival services in a tent on the farm of Elmer Starr, a short distance north of Vandorf. Bert Winger, returned missionary from South Africa, is the evangelist. The meetings are held nightly at 7.30 and everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Rumney and family have gone to their summer cottage at Port Sydney, Muskoka.

The Sunday-school of the United church held their picnic on Thursday in the park at Woodbridge. A good program of sports was carried out and both old and young report a pleasant time.

Pine Orchard

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lundy are spending this week in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hall of South Porcupine visited Misses M. and L. Widdifield on Monday.

Richard Hutchinson and Misses Grace and Bernice Lehman left on Sunday to attend summer school at Omah.

Mr. Boyce was calling on old friends in the vicinity last week.

Miss Betty Hope spent Friday with Misses Audrey and Grace Sproston and attended the Wesley Sunday-school picnic at Island Grove.

Joan and Paul Widdifield of Newmarket returned home on Sunday after spending some time with their aunts here.

Marjorie and Donald Sproston have recovered from the measles. It is hoped that Herbie and Bobbie escape them.

Billie Dike and Henry Westcott are enjoying ten days at Camp Ahshunyoong, Sibbald's Point, where over 100 boys are camping.

Mr. Jas. Hope now drives a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chapman of Aurora spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Chapman.

Misses Helen and Gwen Chrysler of Brighton are holidaying this week with Miss Betty Hope.

SCHOMBERG SERIOUSLY INJURED BY RUNAWAY TEAM

Mrs. A. F. Kay had the misfortune to receive a nasty fall at her home last week and injured her back. She was removed to St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, where she is resting nicely now.

While baying on his farm near here last week, Mr. Earl Edwards was seriously injured when the team of horses ran away. The wagon passed over him.

He was rushed to hospital, where it was at first feared his back, as well as one leg, was broken. It is believed now that it is some other small bone in the back and not one of the vertebrae that is broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Davis of Ridgetown spent the weekend with the former's mother and sister, Mrs. Chas. Davis and Miss Clara Davis.

Mr. Allan Brown of Peterboro was in town last Sunday.

Miss E. Attridge, who has been on a holiday, visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Sibley, near Lefroy, has returned home.

Mrs. Morrison and family are vacationing with Mrs. Morrison's parents near Meaford.

Eversley

The showers have surely saved the day, though farmers are worrying about the hay getting wet. Heat and haying go together. But now after Sunday night's shower, your reporter is off with the hoe for a busy hour.

The strawberry season has been a good one but is nearly past now. Rev. M. E. Burch spent last week and the first half of this week at Glenmohr Camp, the Presbyterian camp on Lake Simcoe. There are 55 boys in camp and a staff of about ten. There must be some commotion, some cooking, some fun! The boys "dry" the dishes!

Mrs. Galloway entertained the Pottageville mission circle last Thursday afternoon. There were 30 present. Tea was served on the lawn and a very happy time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Maria Carmichael and her two grandchildren, Jessie and Angus Kerr-Lawson, from Swastika, in the Kirkland Lake district, travelled from there Sunday night to King, where they arrived on the early morning train in time for an early breakfast. They are staying with Miss Fisher, in the old home of their uncle, Jas. L. Jenkins. The ladies of King will enjoy this visit by this delightful lady and the two children.

The W. A. were busy in their ministry of the needle at Mrs. Shrophshire's on Wednesday, as they quitted a quilt.

Mrs. Shrophshire's sister, Mrs. Lizzie Follitt, is home for a visit. Mrs. T. K. Ferguson's granddaughter, Margaret Haines, is to be married to Owen Barr on July 15. Both are of Snowball.

THE FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN THE SPRING

BY GOLDEN GLOW

We are nearly two weeks into summer and the "flowers that bloom in the spring" are nearly a memory, for the first flowers are well over, and the annuals are starting. I suppose soon now the autumn perennials will be thinking of flowering, and, before we know it, Toronto exhibition will be advertised, and once again we will begin to look for the wild geese to go south, and settle down beside the open fire with a good book and a light behind our left shoulder.

Now doesn't that sound foolish, so soon after the terrific heat of last week? And any day we may have a repetition of it. However, the evenings are noticeably drawing in much earlier, and if it were not for daylight saving we would see quite a difference. But oh! how lovely the gardens are just at dusk—specially now the Madonna lilies are in bloom. Their fragrance in the cool of the day is wonderful.

I began looking back over the flowers I have enjoyed since "Old Man Winter" departed for the Arctic regions, and thinking of different lovely gardens I have enjoyed since then. And I found I had seen many, many beautiful flowers in private homes, (my own included, for I love my own garden too), in my neighbors' gardens, in the country, in the native woods and in public parks and gardens. Last week I was privileged to see one that will live in my memory till I see it again "in person".

And that was the magnificent gardens at the Butchart estate along the Georgian Bay, north of Owen Sound. They call it "The Martins" and how they have persuaded so many of those grand birds to locate there I can't say—but they were there in hundreds, and their sweet song and thrilling calls were a delight to the ear. As you know, Martins will not locate anywhere unless they are positively certain no cats can molest them, so they require homes in lofty poles. And you should see those glorified bird-houses the owner of that wonderful garden has erected for them! There was even one out on a tall steel standard in the bay! That garden needs a little article all to itself, so I'll proceed with what was in my mind for this one.

Everywhere you go you see an abundance of flowers. The weekend before their majesties were at Niagara Falls we went to the Falls too, so I could see the flowers. And the one thing that impressed itself most firmly on my mind was a wonderful tulip-tree, (should I say Magnolia?), absolutely covered with pinky white flowers. It was the wonder and admiration of everyone there, but I am afraid the blooms would be over before the king and queen arrived.

But a beautiful species of wall-flowering plum would be just right—in the wall behind the flower-beds where the orange and purple violas formed delightful patterns in an oblong-shaped border flower-bed. Violas, we know, are perennial pansies, a bit larger than what we used to call "Johnny-jump-ups." Besides other flowers, the roses are and have been wonderful.

All over town from the top of Millard Ave., from Aubrey Davis' garden, with Max Smith's opposite, down past Mr. Brammer's, and Mrs. Trevhella's, Mr. Fuller's on Niagara, Mrs. McMullen's at the corner of Queen and Niagara, Miss Sykes, on Main St., Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth's at the corner of Main and Huron, Mrs. Amott's on Main north, as you pass to the cemetery—why dear me I would not have room to mention all the wonderful gardens along the way. Lundy's Lane, opposite the hospital, and splendid gardens up at Connaught Gardens.

Mrs. Sid Legge gave me some hen and chickens from their beautiful garden, and it is growing well now in my front border. Mr. and Mrs. Legge have a garden worth a trip to see.

And all along Prospect to Lydia, where Jack Stephenson has one of the show-places of the town, there are lovely gardens. There is Mr. Dixon's on Timothy St., and on Court St. there are several besides Mr. and Mrs. Kidd's magnificent display, with Elgin Perrin's at the corner.

And on along Gorham St. is one long line of beautiful gardens, while the west end of our town rivals the east end in splendid gardens. Mr. Bondi's on the corner of Lorne and Timothy, B. W. Hunter's, the McCaffrey's and garden after garden along Park Ave. One does not have to go out of our own town to see flowers. And all this leads up to the fact that one of the most interesting of all our flower shows will be held Saturday night in the basement of the Christian church—the perennial show. Be sure and see it.

"OLD GIRLS" PARTY WAS HAPPY EVENT

One of the most enjoyable events of the reunion was the garden party, given by the ladies of the town in honor of all visiting old girls, at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bosworth, Huron St., on reunion Saturday.

The party, originally planned for out-of-doors, was held inside, owing to scattered showers. The weather, though dull, did not dull the spirits of the old girls gathered from such widely separated points as New York and Saskatoon. About 150 attended.

Among the ladies who assisted Mrs. Bosworth with the lunch were Mrs. H. E. Lambert, Mrs. L. B. Rose, Mrs. George Vale, Mrs. C. C. Wainman, Mrs. J. V. McCaffrey, Mrs. W. B. Epworth, Mrs. S. J. Boyd, Mrs. M. R. Silver, Mrs. Jack King, Mrs. W. C. Lundy, Mrs. Frank Courtney, Mrs. E. Vander Voort, Mrs. B. Hewitt and Mrs. W. H. S. Cane, Toronto, poured tea.

During the day a telegram was received by Mrs. Bosworth signed by three former Newmarket girls, expressing their regret at not being present. They were Rose Doyle Fee, Lucy Cain Partridge and Doris Bain Black, all of Sauli Ste. Marie.

According to report everyone enjoyed themselves to such an extent that they could be heard a mile. Those who signed the guest book were: Mrs. T. C. Watson, Mrs. George Vale, Mrs. Bonilton Howitt, Mrs. W. E. Lyons, Mrs. W. C. Lundy, Mrs. A. W. Rowe, Aurora; Mrs. L. C. Bogart, Mrs. Metu Lehnman, 5 Roschill Ave., Toronto; Beryl Morris, Amelia Bond, Toronto; Mrs. Townsend Eade, Mrs. Alice Burton Eade, 60 Paul St., Lindsay; M. Edna Scott, Toronto; Mrs. J. A. W. NORTH GWILLIMBURY
GIVES OIL REBATE

North Gwillimbury township council met at Belhaven on Monday, July 3. All the members were present.

Council sat for a short time as a court of revision and dealt with a number of transfers and changes of assessment.
Harry T. Babb, Island Grove, was heard concerning his claim for refund on the 1938 oiling of Brighton Beach roadway. Mr.
Harman of the Bituminous Spraying Co. was present and gave his opinion regarding the claim.
After lengthy argument a resolution in favor of the refund gained a majority vote.

Walter Hurst's plan for the subdivision of South Wynhurst was approved.

A resolution was passed to further the matter of ridding the Lake Shore Road of objectionable advertising signs.

The council approved a resolution to enter into an agreement with the department of game and fisheries to establish a game preserve for pheasants, etc., in the municipality. The agreement provides for the restriction of shooting to certain designated days and to those purchasing special hunting permits.

The treasurer was given authority to take care of payment of approved accounts for the community hall and the management of the hall was requested to turn over all revenues to the township treasurer.

Accounts passed for payment included: Geo. Willoughby, caretaker, hall, $17.50; C. Morton, police duty, $75; T. R. Sheppard, police duty, $16; Lloyd Stiles, sanitary inspector, $18.50; J. Stevenson, stamps, $9; J. A. Nelson, compensation, $9.39; A. King, valuating sheep, $2; Harvey Taylor, ambulance service, $15; E. Strasser, funeral, $50; Mathews, Lyons &
Vale, legal services, $76.82; Lake
Simcoe Lumber Co., $34.8; grant,
Sutton Horse Show, $100; Dr. J. C.
R. Edwards, $8; Dr. F. G. Pim, $8;
Dr. O. M. Beattie, $30.50; road
voucher No. 7, $1,253.19.

Relief accounts: Torrens Grocery, $25; Carl Kellington, $15.91;
Sam Hurwich, $19.84; M. O.
Tremayne, $3.20; Chas. Pringle, $13.50; T. J. Davidson, $72.50; P.
Fugley, $4; Canada Bread Co., $8;
Ross Pollock, $2; Jas. Stevenson, $20; A. Wallace, $7.91; H. G. Nighswander, $9.40; R. J. Stork, 90 cents; Mrs. W. Comer, $4.80; Village of Sutton, $4.99; Township of Georgina, $65.53; C. E. Pollock, re-

Holland Landing

Miss Helen Jarvis of Listowel is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dean of Sal-kirk attended a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Speziall on Saturday. Their friends and former neighbors were pleased to see them at church on Sunday evening.

Until further notice the service in the United church will be at 7 p.m. standard time and Sunday-school is being held at 10 a.m.
during the summer months.

Miss Dorothy Kitching returned to her home in Toronto on Sunday after spending a week with Mr.
and Mrs. F. W. Kitching.

The Sunday-school picnic of the United church was held at Leonard Beach last Thursday, with a good attendance of scholars and friends.

Mr. Robt. Longhurst of Huntsville visited Mr. F. J. Sheppard.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Giller of Detroit visited Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stephenson.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Levinson and Mrs. Chadwick and sons, all of Toronto, are spending a vacation on the Chadwick milk ranch.

Miss Nellie Catling of Toronto is spending a week with her friend,

Miss Mary Marsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Moore and family of Thornton have moved into the Rowe cottage.

Messrs. Stanley and Leslie Rowe of Toronto spent the weekend with their father.

Those from this district who attended the Grange reunion at Centre Island, Toronto, on Saturday, included Mr. and Mrs. Allan Forbes, Mrs. Chas. Toole, Mrs.
John McClure, Mrs. G. McClure
and Mr. Wm. Lepard.

Misses Dora McClure and Joyce VanLunen spent the weekend in Newmarket at the home of Mr.
Allie Haines.

Owing to the extreme heat last Wednesday, a very small attendance was present at the Willing Workers' meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Tucker. Mrs. Ralph Willis gave a splendid paper on: "Sunday,
a holiday, or a holy day."

Roll-call was Sunday observance.
The Institute meeting will be held on July 19 at the home of Mrs. T. J. McNicol. Roll-call will be: "Name an article made of rayon."

History of rayon will be given by Miss L. Starr. An address will be given by Rev. Dr. D. McIntyre.

Music will be by Betty and Irene Harper. A contest will be prepared by Miss Starr.

Some items of last week should have read: "Mr. W. E. Foster of Brantford, who was attending the Old Boys' reunion, Newmarket, visited Mrs. M. F. Starr and Mrs.
Ble, Misses Louise and Jessie Bourke, attending yearly meeting of Friends at Pickering College, called on Mrs. Starr and Mrs. Hawtin on Saturday evening. Mrs. A. Colquhoun of Norwich, attending yearly meeting, spent Sunday with Mrs. M. F. Starr. Mr. and Mrs.
J. A. Hawtin and Edith, Margaret and Beth, of Beaverton, after attending the decoration service in Newmarket, had Sunday night tea with Mrs. Starr and Mrs. Hawtin."

HOPE ANNUAL PICNIC WILL BE HELD ON JULY 18

The annual Sunday-school and
W. A. picnic will be held at Pegg's park on Tuesday, July 18.
A program of sports is being planned which will commence at 3 p.m. The children are asked to refrain from bathing until the sports are over.

The W. A. meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Stickwood was a splendid success. Mrs. A. Dike gave a very interesting paper on "The Successful Church." Miss Grace Barker read the scripture passage and Miss Blanche Stickwood read a poem, "The Helping Hand."
The August meeting of the W. A. is to be held at the home of Mrs.
L. S. Mount.

The many friends of Miss Mildred Mitchell are glad to learn that she is improving nicely after an appendicitis operation.

Mr. and Mrs. August Gibson, Amy and Joe visited Mr. and Mrs. E. Gibson on Sunday.

A number from the community attended the decoration service at Mount Albert on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lepard and family of Newmarket visited Mr.
and Mrs. O. Stickwood on Sunday.

following brief letter to the judge:
"I have fixed that slave."

A WINTER'S TALE... FOR SUMMER READING!

BY MARY DICKERSON DONAHEY

Into the close warm air of the local room of the Conway Daily Post pretty little Polly Pepper came like a breeze from the crisp winter day that sparkled outside the grimy windows.

"Whew, but it's all hot and smoky here!" she announced, and then began to stare about. Usually the local room was empty by two o'clock. The reporters came in about one, got their assignments and went away again. Now the city editor, called Pop Merrick because of his shock of prematurely white hair, was there with a group of men about him. No one answered her. Pop did not believe in girls doing anything but society news. Miss Pepper refused to do that; so he had never been very nice to her and she realized now that she had been snubbed. Her cheeks flamed and she was starting back to her cubbyhole of an office when Ted Harper, lank young sketch artist and photographer for the Post, left the group and caught her arm.

"Big news and bad news," he said, "A boy's just come in from Frenner's Cove. Dog team across the ice part way, walked the rest.
Only five houses out there you know, and two of 'em burned last night, one being their nearest approach to a store. Supplies gone, two men burned badly, a boy with a broken leg, a five-day-old baby was injured, and its grandmother, who already had pneumonia, is worse from being carried out in zero weather. She was their only thing in the line of doctor or nurse; so it leaves 'em pretty helpless."

"Oh, dear, Frenner's Cove is way out at the end of the bay, isn't it?"
asked Polly, her blue eyes big with sympathy.

"Worse yet. It's on the Flat Iron,
you know, that biggest island.
Wild a place as you ever saw and hard to reach at the best of times.
No place to set down a plane, and too high a wind to risk one anyhow, today. This boy says the wind is driving the ice, so it cracks right under your feet. He had to leave the dog team and the other boy who was with him because he was afraid the sled would sink into a place he was able to jump over.
Bad business. Pop's phoned Dr.
Barney. He's always ready to take any chance to go to folks who need him, but how he'll get out to Frenner's Cove now is the question.
I've got to go do some pictures for the story Gould's writing. I've been at the Cove often enough in my files, too."

Ted vanished towards the art room, leaving Polly standing with puckered brow. Suddenly she turned and marched up to Mr.
Merrick.

"You've got to listen to me," she said desperately. "You've been scolding me for going out ice yachting with Reuel Lukens; but I know what he can do. I just left him down by the door. He's on his way for a spin now. And I know he can get help to Frenner's Cove.
It'll be the best and quickest way."

Merrick's black brows, looking so much fiercer by contrast with his white hair, drew down. He acted as though he were going to wave her aside. Gould looked up from his flying fingers and his typewriter stopped as he said, "She's right! Reuel can do miracles with that 'Ghost Girl' of his."

"How can he get over those cracks?" demanded Merrick.

"Maybe he can't," said Polly.
"Maybe he'll have to go round them. But you can count on one thing—he'll get there! I know you think he's just a no-account boy, but he's brave, and he's kind. He'll want to help! He can give his time and his yacht and he'll do it!"

"But how'll we get him? He'll be at the harbor now—maybe out on the ice."

"Let me phone," Polly saw her arguments were winning. Feverishly she called for the coast guard station. "Captain Moffatt lives there all winter, you know," she explained. "The 'Ghost Girl' is near the station. Hello? Captain Moffatt? Has Reuel taken his boat out yet? Stopped there to talk to you? Oh, send him to the phone, quick, quick!"

After a few hurried words Polly arose. "He'll be ready at once, and he can take three people," she went on to explain.

"Three? He can take three besides himself and that clever Finn sailor. One, he keeps for his yachts. I'm going too," announced Gould.

"Oh, no, you're not," said Miss Pepper sweetly. "I'm going. It's my story. I'm not only a reporter, I'm a good nurse, too. I can help

Dr. Barney and get the story both. I've earned the right to go!"

"Guess that decision'll have to stand, Gould," said Pop Merrick, grudgingly. "Miss Pepper realizes the danger. If she thinks she can stand it, she's earned the right to go, as she says." Pop was a just man, though a hard one, and in that moment earned a loyalty from Polly she had never given him before.

Almost immediately automobiles began whirling out along the strip of barren sands towards the coast guard station. They were headed for the towering mast of the graceful white "Ghost Girl," a pleasure boat, but today bound for grim and dangerous work, out beyond the bounds of known safety.

Young Lukens and his squat quiet, competent sailor, Ono, were working at the yacht. They were aided by a slim boy from whose fur cap Pop Merrick saw gleaming the golden curls and blue eyes of this girl reporter. Could it be? How had she changed clothes so swiftly;
how much she seemed to know about that yacht! A grudging admiration shone in his dark eyes.

Boxes were being expertly lashed to the deck, barely leaving space for the passengers. A low-slung roadster rushed up, and from it stepped tall, young Dr. Barney. A round bundle of clothes waddled towards them, sighing, complaining, almost crying in her apparent distress.

"Mrs. Monson, my most dependable nurse," introduced Dr.
Barney.

The woman bobbed at them and announced, "I don't look it or sound it but that's true. I'll be a nuisance and appear a fraud till we get there; but then watch me! I just can't seem to help being scared at death, before things happen, and fussing about it, but when they are happening I haven't time to do anything but work, so I'm all right.
Walk out on that slippery ice? I must! Oh, of course, you can't carry me. That boat looks distinctly unreliable. No cabin? Oh, dear, why did I come? Lie flat on the deck and hang on to that rail down the middle? Oh, never!"

As she talked, the lady climbed on board and lay just as she was told. Polly Pepper, lying opposite her, knew after the first look into the round, shrewd face, one glance from the clever, kindly eyes, that Mrs. Monson was all Dr. Barney said she was. Polly just smiled at her fussing, only saying, "Hold your tight," as she saw Ono manipulate the sail.

At the last Pop Merrick became scared. He had heard tales of the danger of ice boating. The bay looked very big and stormy, the ice dangerous, and his conscience made him rush out and actually shout:

"I've no right to let a girl go on this trip, Miss Pepper. Get off!
Gould is here. He'll go."

Polly Pepper shook her head.
"It's my story," she yelled back at him, "and besides, can I think of my duty to people who need me first, and to my paper second. I'll be safe." Her last words were blown back to him on the icy gale, for the "Ghost Girl," packed with all the aid she could carry to the stricken people, was dashing away.

Pop Merrick hurried back to the office he so seldom left until long after midnight, feeling worried but elated, too. It did a man good to see five people eagerly risk their lives to help those in great need!

Out on the Bay the "Ghost Girl" was spreading her wings and scudding

MOUNT ALBERT BRIDE-TO-BE IS GUEST OF HONOR AT SHOWER

The Senior Women's Institute will hold a picnic at Midhurst on Wednesday, July 19, in the afternoon, to which all are invited.

Mrs. E. Davis held a shower for Miss Iva Pegg on Monday evening at which Miss Pegg received many lovely gifts. She is a bride-to-be of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Case accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case of Sharon motored to Port Dover last week for a visit.

Mr. Alvin Dike of Lindsay was home over the weekend.

A former resident of Mount Albert in the person of Wm. Smart passed away at his home in Brownhill on Monday evening after a short illness and the funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the Free Methodist church to Mount Albert cemetery. Mr. Smart is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ernie Sedore, of Lemonville.

Rev. Mr. Binnington of Caledon East will be the minister at the United church on Sunday next.

Mount Albert

Mrs. George Stokes and son, Roscoe, of Petrolia, were visitors in town last weekend at the homes of Mrs. Ross and Mr. W. D. Stokes.

Mrs. W. G. Maxwell of Markham spent last week at the home of her cousin, W. R. Steeper, and returned home on Sunday accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Jewell.

CHRISTADELPHIANS

CHRISTADELPHIANS AFFIRM—

That Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is not the second person of an eternal and co-equal trinity, but the manifestation of God the Father in human flesh by means of the Holy Spirit.

ROSS TRIVETT, CHAIRMAN GEO. OSBORNE, SECRETARY

Mr. and Mrs. H. Borrowman and daughter, Edith, of Welland, were visitors in town this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Steeper.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Summerfeldt and John were at the home of Miss Leek on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Gordon Wagg, Jimmie and Linda of Picton are guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stokes.

Bruce Rolling has his new home ready for occupation and it is a credit to the village.

Mr. Frank Ross left on Thursday for a motor trip through the States and British Columbia and home by Canada. He expects to be gone over a month.

A number of the Young Men's Bible class of the United Sunday-school went to camp at Midland on Monday. Others went later in the week.

The decoration service at the cemetery was largely attended on Sunday afternoon and a great number of veterans and lodge members marched to the cemetery accompanied by the Eglinton Salvation Army band, which, under the leadership of Adjutant R. Watt, was thoroughly enjoyed both afternoon and evening.

The speakers were Col. White and Adjutant J. Johnson, both officers of the army, who added much to the service and left a very fine message for all to remember.

The evening service at the park was interrupted by rain but only for a short time as the hall was opened and all went inside to listen to another sacred concert.

Everyone enjoys these visits of the band and trust they will come again.

Suicide Is Verdict After Mystery Story Unravelled

POLICE CONGRATULATED ON PIECING TOGETHER SUICIDE

"There is an Oppenheim story if any of you gentlemen care to write it."

It was Coroner Dr. C. J. Devins, Aurora, speaking at the conclusion of an inquest into the death of John William Ground, found floating on Lake Wilcox on June 22, held at Vandorf township hall on Tuesday evening. The late Mr. Ground lived in north Toronto.

"You may wonder why an inquest was necessary," said Dr. Devins. "It sounds so simple now. Remember that you heard the story from the beginning to the end. The police began at the end and worked their way back to the beginning."

"Usually when a body is found on the surface of the water it means one of two things, either that the person has been dead for several days or that he was put there after he was dead. I must congratulate the police on having sense enough to leave the body there until the coroner arrived."

"Then there was the skid mark of a car going right down to the water edge. The police identified that his son had seen him in bed in Toronto the previous night, so that he could not have been in the water several days."

"The police worked on the case but for several days they were able to throw little light on the matter. But gradually by means of patient work they were able to unfold the whole story as you heard it tonight."

"They located Dr. Warren, who had advised consultation with a surgeon, with a probable operation ahead. They found the witness who saw him leave his office at 6.10 a.m. They found the radial car conductor who saw him get on the radial at 6.20 a.m. at the city limits. They located the witness who remembered seeing him on the radial car and spoke to him, although he was too preoccupied to answer, and heard him ask about the bus to Aurora. They found Miss Carlisle, the teacher, who from her house saw him going in toward the lake at between 8.30 and 8.45."

"And you have heard the medical explanation of why the body floated on the water."

The skid-marks of a car going right down to the lake were made by one of the first persons called to the scene of the gruesome discovery, police learned in the course of their investigation.

The jury returned a verdict of "self-inflicted" death from suffocation following a spasm of the larynx as a result of going into the lake.

Dr. G. W. Williams, Aurora, who performed an autopsy, and Dr. E. R. Frankish, medical adviser to the Ontario attorney-general's department, explained that the lungs were full of air, and that this resulted from a spasm of the muscles of the throat.

"You get that expansion of the lungs after hanging or electrocution," said Dr. Frankish. "You get that spasm of the larynx when there is an irritation of the larynx. There were two factors in the death, the water in the stomach and suffocation. I disagree slightly with Dr. Williams on one point, in that I think that there was a little water in the lungs."

"There was no poison in the stomach," Dr. Frankish said. "In my experience of autopsies on drowned persons almost a third have no water in the lungs," he said.

The whole story was brought out under the questioning of N. L. Mathews, K. C., Newmarket, crown attorney.

Members of the jury were Frank Rogers, James Prior, Lorne Evans, Herman Kidd, George Leary, Jesse Cook, Herbert Welles, J. G. McDonald (foreman).

William John Ground, in business with his father, John William Ground, said that the previous night he had been at his father's house at 11.20, when his father, in bed, had shown him a lump on his side.

"You had better do something about it," I told him.

"At 6.30 a.m. my mother called me to say that he was not in the house," Mr. Ground continued. "I went to the office on Yonge St. and found that he had left some bank books and keys there that had not been there the previous night."

Questioned by Mr. Mathews, Dr. Warren, Ranleigh Ave., Toronto, whom the late Mr. Ground had consulted twice, said that Mr. Ground had said he had never had an operation and he wasn't going to start now.

Mr. Mathews then questioned the four witnesses who had seen Mr. Ground the morning of June 22.

He congratulated Detective-Sergeant Sidney Barracough, County Constable Ronald Watt, and Constable John Williamson, Whitechurch, on their handling of the case.

"Do you think there is any possibility of foul play?" Mr. Mathews asked Sergeant Barracough.

"None whatever," said the officer. Sharon Junior Farmers in co-operation with the department of agriculture are sponsoring a fertilized field meeting at the farm of Walter Haines between Newmarket and Sharon on Monday evening next at 7.15 P. M. to look over the results of the fertilizer applied to fall wheat.

Prof. G. H. Bell of the chemistry department and A. W. Mason of the field husbandry department of the O. A. C. will be present. Lantern slides will be shown.

Recalled, Mr. Ground, Jr., said that his father had farmed two years on Yonge St. opposite the L. T. B. home and that he was familiar with the Lake Wilcox area.

"Did your father have an enemy?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"He didn't have an enemy," was the answer.

"You have no suspicion of foul play?" continued Mr. Mathews.

"No."

"You think it was due to the state of his mind, and the dread of an operation?"

"Yes."

DAVIS REUNION IS HELD AT KETTLEBY

Four generations of the descendants of the late Thomas Davis met for their first reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, of Kettleby, on July 1. Mr. Davis is a grandson. The late Thomas Davis was one of the first settlers of this district. About 165 members of four generations gathered during the afternoon, many meeting each other for the first time. They came from far and near.

Mrs. S. J. Eade of Toronto was presented with the oldest member prize; John Arthur Brooks, of Gormley, the fifth generation, was the youngest member present; Mrs. Harvey of Eveleth, Minnesota, won the prize for being the member from the farthest distance.

The afternoon was spent in renewing old and making new acquaintances, with races, a tug-of-war and horseshoe pitching. Far from the least attraction was the splendid picnic supper to which everyone did justice.

During the supper hour, Milton Hurst of Buffalo, N. Y., called the gathering to order and in a few well chosen words expressed the general opinion of the gathering. He later acted as chairman for organizing a committee for the coming year.

Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mr. Arthur MacEldon of Toronto; 1st vice-pres., Alex. Davis, Toronto; 2nd vice-pres., Mr. Sam Davis, Nottawa; see-treas., Miss M. Stephens, Toronto; sports committee, S. Fuller, Schomberg, D. Jeffrey, Kettleby.

MEET NEWMARKET

Continued from Aurora Page of darkness. It was plenty dark, too, and the street lights had been on for some time before he stopped the battle.

Don Glover pitched his first league game when he threw for Newmarket on Tuesday night, and showed plenty of what it takes before he and Catcher Carl Welsh, a comparative newcomer, were replaced by the veterans, Webster and VanZant.

Neither team scored in the first, and both squads got a couple of runs in the second inning. Cain got a two-bagger and was brought in by Trivet's homer for the Newmarket score and Max Buck, Aurora catcher, came home on Pattenden's homer, to make it 2-2.

Newmarket were one up in the third when Neufeldt walked and came home on an error. In the fourth, Newmarket failed to tally, and Aurora made its bid for leadership. Muford bunted to first, but went out at second when Cluhine hit safely. Hodgins also landed on bases and Buck walked. All three men came in when Pattenden knocked out a three-bagger. Sutton and Heaney fanned, to retire the side, but Aurora was two runs ahead.

Neufeldt and Gihney reached bases on errors and came home when Trivet's two-base hit was fumbled in the infield, to tie the score. Aurora went ahead again, however, when Bone knocked out a home run.

Newmarket tied it up in the sixth when Niles came in on VanZant's two-bagger, but Aurora again took a winning edge when Pattenden came in on a two-base hit by Heaney.

Newmarket took a two-run lead, with the score 9-7, when Cain, Trivet and Peters tallied in the first of the seventh. The game was called after Sutton had hit safely in Aurora's half of the inning.

Terms — Newmarket: Welsh and VanZant, c; Glover and Webster, p; Peters, 1b; Trivet, 2b; Neufeldt, 3b; Hilton, ss; Gihney, rf; Cain, cf; Giles, lf. Niles went in as pinchhitter.

Aurora: Buck, c; Bone, p; Sutton, 1b; Pattenden, 2b; Hodgins, 3b; Rowling, ss; Muford, rf; Cluhine, cf; Heaney, lf.
